Joe Biden's Losing Strategy

By Anil Shrivastava 'Musafir'

With an eye toward losing both the Senate and the House of Representatives in the upcoming mid-term election, Mr. Biden is looking for candidates who share the same passion as himself for losing elections.

“We are looking for candidates who are enthusiastic about looking for losing with big margins under the able leadership of President Biden,” declared Chuck Schumer, the majority Senate leader.

Schumer declared that the president would prefer candidates who are transgender, or bisexual. On top of that, they should also have past criminal records. All candidates must have the ability to organize mobs to initiate riots, kill police, and harass justices, and the Republican office-holders. “Unlike the Republican strategy to win seats, the Democratic candidates must have a track record of losing elections,” said Kraine Jean-Pierre, Biden’s Press Secretary who is a lesbian.

Contrary to the popular belief, our President is not losing it at all. He remembered the name of FOX correspondent, Peter Doocy and called him “Son of A Bitch.” That proves that his cognitive ability is intact.

On top of that he has many past achievements to brag for. As Vice President, Biden oversaw the Iraq policy with Barack Obama, helped counteract the 2008 recession with Obama, instated the Affordable Care Act with Obama, dealt with the United States’s debt ceiling crisis in 2011 with Obama, cut taxes for low and middle classes while raising taxes on the wealthy with Obama, supported same-sex marriage with Obama and addressed rape and sexual assault with Obama. Recently, he poured billions of taxpayers’ dollars to fund the war in Ukraine resulting in the destruction of Ukraine and the massacre of its people.

Meanwhile, the reports coming from various sources reveal that celebrities such as Madonna, Amy Schumer, Jerry Springer, Katy Perry, Joanne Marie Conte, and Donna Price have shown great interest in running for office and losing to help President Biden in fulfilling his goal.
